

Food safety officials raid oil mill

STAFF REPORTER

VIJAYAWADA, OCTOBER 23, 2018 00:00 IST

In a joint operation, officials of the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) and the Vigilance and Enforcement (V&E) raided the Sri Bala Dal and Oil Mill in Bapulapadu mandal in Krishna district on Monday.

They found that the management was extracting oil from groundnut seeds of inferior quality, and collected samples of seeds and oil.

The samples would be sent to a laboratory for examination. The mill owner did not maintain any records, officials said.

In a joint operation, officials of the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) and the Vigilance and Enforcement (V&E) raided the Sri Bala Dal and Oil Mill in Bapulapadu mandal in Krishna district on Monday.

They found that the management was extracting oil from groundnut seeds of inferior quality, and collected samples of seeds and oil.

The samples would be sent to a laboratory for examination. The mill owner did not maintain any records, officials said.